S

Seems to me that almost this entire year has been a toss-up. If you are like me you've been wondering what to do, how to do it, and in the meanwhile feeling like you just want to watch movies. Ugh, feels like a sticky mess to me!

But September is here, and it's time to freshen things up. So coming up on September 16th I'm offering a brand new virtual workshop. It's called Declutter Your Business's Backend and it's all about getting things fresh, clean, and simple for the new season.

If you've got shame over buying software tools or email systems or anything else that you are not using, this workshop is for you. It's also for you if you want to get a better handle on which tools you should be using for your business, and assessing them in terms of what they will help you do and how much they are costing you, too.

Find out all the details and what you'll get at confidentmarketer.com/declutter-for-fall.

The workshop is coming right up on September 16th. Go register right now, and I'll see you on September 16th.

Meanwhile, let's take a second to remember all workers in this country, for their contributions to the development and achievements of the United States.

Start this fall with a clear, clean look at your business's back end, simplify and save time and money, too. Can't wait to see you there!

To your sweet success,

PS If you want simple ways to make videos (with you on the camera or not on the camera, either way) what was formerly Content Samurai has rebranded to Vidnami and made the videos even easier to do. I have used this video tool for years now. They are running a great special which includes, among other things, 40% off for life. Check it out here confidentmarketer.com/vidnami. (tThis is my affiliate link). It's robust and over the years I have seen that they do continually add things. I've also gotten quick support from them. Deal ends Friday.
